FROM THE DEAN’S DESK: SPOTLIGHT ON JON BELIVEAU

Every online learner must have information access equivalent in speed and quality to access on campus and in the Library. Jon Beliveau, Systems Librarian, is mission-critical to achieving that goal. Jon has a Bachelor of Engineering in Computer Engineering from Florida Tech and will soon receive his Master of Science in Computer Information Systems. Jon has helped to build a robust Library technical infrastructure since 2003, as Technical Assistant, Edwin A. Link Special Collections Project Manager, SIRSI/DYNIX Systems Administrator and Systems Integration Manager. Jon’s supervisor says that “Jon has the perfect combination of education, expertise and academic library experience to assure that our library can continue to meet the needs of Florida Tech’s faculty, students and staff, regardless of location.” He makes it look easy . . .

WELCOME, ROSE PETRALIA!

The Evans Library welcomes to its faculty Rosalie Petralia, Instruction Librarian. Ms. Petralia received a Master of Science - Library and Information Studies from Florida State University and a Bachelor of Arts in English/Technical Writing from University of Central Florida. Her background includes teaching and technical writing experience. Her research interests focus on reaching varied student populations through effective use of learning management systems and the balance among human interaction, social networking, and Web 2.0 technologies in increasing information literacy.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS – DEAN NELSON’S SEPTEMBER 8th PRESENTATION

Mark your calendars! On Wednesday, September 8, Dean of the College of Science, Dr. Gordon Nelson, will present The History of Science Research at Florida Tech in the Library’s second-floor Link Multimedia Room. Beginning at 3:00 p.m., his address will complement the Library’s ongoing exhibit, Florida Tech Research Showcase – College Series. During a reception that will follow, everyone will have an opportunity to meet Dr. Nelson and many of the researchers whose work is exhibited in the Library’s current College of Science display.
