FROM THE DEAN’S DESK:
DAVID MACAULAY EXHIBIT

The Library celebrates Florida Tech’s Foosaner Art Museum with an exhibit of many books by David Macaulay. By all means, visit the museum (admission is free with a valid Florida Tech ID) at 1463 Highland Avenue to see Building Books: The Art of David Macaulay, on view through October 9, 2011! Organized by the Norman Rockwell Museum in Stockbridge, MA, this exhibition displays original works of art, studies and sketchbooks, book dummies, manuscripts, and artifacts. Macaulay brings together the worlds of art, history and science, with more than a dash of humor, in magnificent books: The Way Things Work (1988), Cathedral (1973), Castle (1982), City (1983), Mill (1989), Pyramid (1982), Ship (1993), Building Big (2004) and Mosque (2008). In Motel of the Mysteries (1979), future archaeologists interpret their excavations of an American motel as a funerary and temple complex. Baaa (1985), set after the human race has become extinct, shows how sheep attempt to rebuild the remnants of human civilization. The books on display in the Library include not only these but also others among my ‘Macaulay’ favorites.

EVANS LIBRARY CAFÉ — PROGRESS CONTINUES!

LIBRARY DISPLAYS: “STUDY ABROAD EXPERIENCE” - FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9

In conjunction with the Library’s current first-floor display, the Nathan M. Bisk College of Business Research Showcase, Dean Annie Becker and a panel of faculty and students will present a forum, “Study Abroad Experience: Educational, Cultural, Environmental and Personal Enrichment.” All are invited to enjoy this 3:00 p.m. presentation that will highlight the benefits of the College’s recent short-term course in Spain and then to stay for a 4:00 reception, to mingle with program participants and learn about other study-abroad opportunities.

FALL 2011 GRADUATE RESEARCH WORKSHOP – DATES SET

The Library’s Fall 2011 graduate research workshops will be held on Friday afternoon, October 21, and Saturday morning, October 22, in the Library’s Link Multimedia Room. Registration information for these popular half-day seminars is available on the Library website.
