LIBRARY DISPLAYS

Coming soon to the Evans Library is the College of Aeronautics Research Showcase.

Continuing in the library are several exhibits:

- Edmund Skellings, Poet of Technology features inspiring memorabilia and publications of the late Dr. Edmund Skellings.

- Open Access celebrates Florida Tech faculty who are writing open and freely available publications. Research librarian Ann Sepri invites everyone to “come by to view the display showcasing over 45 faculty who have published more than 200 open access articles and book chapters.” More information about the movement and the display can be found in the library’s Open Access to Scholarship Research Guide at http://libguides.lib.fit.edu/OpenAccess.

- Through Friday, January 4, Once Upon a Time, a juried exhibit from the Strawbridge Art League, will continue to reflect the whimsy of fairy tales. Accompanying it is a book collection of personal favorites of library personnel.

BEYOND WORDS!

Jonathan Wilson
Senior, Aviation Management/Flight

Like most students at Florida Tech, finding time to make a trip over to the library to get a research question answered can be hard. Fortunately for all of us, we can get our questions answered without having to leave the comforts of our own homes! The Evans Library’s Ask a Librarian service allows you to either chat online, phone, or email with the most knowledgeable group of experts here at Florida Tech. The library faculty will be able to help you with everything from the library hours to where you can find the best resources for your paper. Ask a Librarian is an amazing tool that I have used on countless occasions when I have been stuck at home or even on vacation out of the state. So the next time you need a question answered, Ask a Librarian!

FROM THE DEAN’S DESK: STUDENT-FOCUSED LIBRARY

No doubt about it – the students love the library. Before we open in the mornings, there they are, pacing around, peering through the glass, ringing the doorbell (yes, we have a doorbell). They need gentle reminders that we close at midnight (or 2 a.m. during finals). They enjoy the “food and drinks are okay” policy and the snack bar. They study hard, alone or in groups. Sometimes they take a break and play a game of chess at the board in the lobby, or do some artwork on one of the whiteboards. Here’s a Snoopy picture by one of our gifted student artists.

Happy holidays from the Evans Library!